JACK FROST IS NOW WORKING OVERTIME

Blizzards and Snow Storms in Many Places East and West.

Property Loss Half a Million in Colorado---East Suf- fers Greatly, Also.

Ouray, Col., March 19.—A mammoth snowslide in Mount Sneffels district, six miles south of Ouray, wrecked Camp Bird mine mill, a tram house, boarding house and reading room. William Cressy is known to have been killed and it is feared other lives were lost. The property loss is estimated at half a million.

Camp Bird bunk house, adjoining reading room, which was wrecked, narrowly escaped being engulfed and crushed. There were between 200 and 250 miners and mill employees in this building when the slide came down.

Blocked by Snow Slides.

Telluride, Col., March 19.—For one week it has been storming almost continuously in this district. There has not been a train run between Telluride and Durango for over a week and the road is still blocked by snow slides near Ophir and Rio.

The destruction of the Camp Bird supply house cuts off the food supply of 250 miners who are fearing further snow slides have taken refuge in the tunnel. Preparations are making to rescue them, but the storm is so severe it is impossible to reach them before tomorrow. In addition to these, more than 500 men in other neighboring mines have been cut off from communication with the outside world by snow slides in adjacent mountains.

Miners Face Starvation.

Denver, Col., March 19.—Five hundred gold miners near the scene of the disastrous Camp Bird snowslide Sunday night, have had the food supply either swept away or entirely cut off. Unless relief is afforded them immediately they will soon face starvation. Trails to the mines are entirely obliterated under many feet of snow, and it will be necessary to open up new lines for traffic.

Rains Stop Trains in South.

Jackson, Miss., March 19.—Railroad traffic in this section of Mississippi is tied up on account of heavy rains. Many trains are annulled.

HORRIBLE FATE

MRS. MARY HEAD FELL INTO THE FIRE FROM VER- TIGO.

She Was Conscious, but Lay and Slowly Roasted Because No One Heard.

Owensboro, Ky., March 19.—Mrs. Mary Head, aged 84, while alone in her room at her home in Pleasant Valley, near the city, fell in the fire during an attack of vertigo. She remained conscious but was unable to make the family hear her cries.

Her clothes were consumed as she lay helpless on the floor and it was the odor of burning flesh that finally brought help.

She lived eight hours and was able to tell all about the accident. She was one of the most prominent women of the county and leaves several children, among them W. G. Head, a tobacco dealer of Madisonville, Ky.

High I. C. Officials are Here to Decide Question of a Down Town Ticket Office

Messrs. John A. Scott, assistant general passenger agent, and John Dwyer, assistant general freight agent of the I. C., are in Paducah today on business of importance, and the result of their visit will mean either that the I. C. will establish a down town ticket office, or will decide not to.

The Commercial club and merchants have been working for a downtown ticket office for some time, and have petitioned the I. C. to establish one in the city. The matter was brought before the higher officials and Messrs. Scott and Dwyer sent here to look into the advisability. They will decide by tomorrow, it is said. The petitioners, as far as the gentlemen will express themselves, are good for the downtown office.

Worst in Years in Indiana.

New Castle, Ind., March 19.—The worst snow storm and blizzard in years prevailed last night and today, and snow is almost 20 inches deep on a level. Interurban traffic is suspended and rural rail service and business are paralyzed. Rural districts report snow drifted seven feet deep in places.

Heavy Snow in Ohio.

Ironton, Ohio, March 19.—Eighteen inches of snow covers the ground here and railway and street car service are greatly impeded and business is almost at a standstill. It is the heaviest snow in years.

Trains May Be Snowbound.

Peru Ind., March 19.—The interurban service in Northern Indiana is completely tied up, snow from 7 to 11 inches deep covering the northern part of the state. Owing to high winds, steam roads may be snowbound before night.

Paducah Has Nasty Weather.

The weather man continues to send out all kinds of weather here, and offers little encouragement for a relief from the weather which has been prevalent during the past several days.

Sunday morning there had been a slight moderation and a thin rain fell. Towards afternoon the temperature began falling again and the rain turned to sleet, but was not very thick. Rain continued all night turning to sleet and snow this morning. The mercury has been hovering about the freezing point for several days and the government observations show the highest Sunday afternoon to be 30, and the lowest this morning, 32.

The predictions for tonight and tomorrow are: "Rain turning to snow tonight followed by fair weather Tuesday. Colder Tuesday."

BOLD BURGLARY.

Thieves Blow Safe in Chicago and Make Good Haul.

Chicago, March 19.—Burglars early this morning entered Jorgensen's furniture establishment and bound and gagged the night watchman and blew the safe with nitroglycerine. They obtained $200 in cash, $2,000 in notes and other valuable papers. The store was badly wrecked, and although in a densely populated section, the robbery and explosion were not discovered until after daylight.

Michigan Town Burning.

Litchfield, Mich., March 19.—The business section of the village is in flames, which are moving rapidly through the principal business street, driven by high winds. The fire department is unable to control the flames, and Coldwater, Jonesville and other towns have been appealed to for aid.

Death Near Hickman.

Hickman, Ky., March 19.—J. W. Cottrell, a well known citizen of this vicinity, died at his home near Blue Pond, a few miles below town. Interment took place on Sassafras Ridge. He was a farmer.

ONE MAN KILLED IN AN I. C. WRECK

Four Freight Cars Jump Track at Horse Branch.

M. Ferguson, of Horse Branch, Who Was Walking Beside Track, the Victim.

TRAIS DELAYED THREE HOURS.

Louisville, Ky., March 19.—Four cars of a northbound Illinois Central freight were derailed and overturned by a broken wheel near Horse Branch Sunday afternoon, killing M. Ferguson, aged 17, who was walking beside the track. The accident caused a delay to traffic of three hours.

The train was running about fifteen miles an hour and was going up a grade.

The four cars overturned were loaded with rough lumber. Young Ferguson was a resident of Horse Branch, and was with several companions, who witnessed the accident.

The wrecking crews from Louisville and Central City were sent to the scene to clear the track.

The train was in charge of Edward Foley, conductor and George Isaacks, engineer, both of Louisville.

TWENTY YEARS.

Given a North Carolina Doctor for Killing Wife.

Greensboro, N. C., March 19.—After a jury had deliberated for 13 hours Saturday, Dr. J. B. Matthews was convicted of having murdered his wife by injecting strychnine into her leg as he pretended to be praying at her bedside.

Guilty of murder in the second degree was the verdict and Judge Ferguson sentenced the prisoner to a term of 20 years.

So strong was the evidence against Dr. Matthews that the coroner was present when the poison was administered, that the prisoner had accused his wife of infidelity, and threatened to kill her because of such belief.

In an endeavor to prove his client insane, counsel for the defense asked a question that took an hour and ten minutes to propound. The answer was given in a few minutes.

A Hickman Wedding.

Hickman, Ky., March 19.—At the home of the bride in West Hickman, Miss Bernice White and William Eastman were united in marriage. Rev. H. C. Johnson officiating. Miss White is the daughter of Jas. W. White, a merchant of West Hickman, and Mr. Eastman is a farmer citizen of Nashville. They will reside in West Hickman.

No Agreement.

The telephone and telegraph committee held a conference with the telephone attorneys this afternoon but reached no agreement and will report tonight that it has no recommendation to make.

Attorney W. V. Eaton will go to Smithland Wednesday to take depositions in the case of the administrator of the estate of John Cowper of Norfolk, Va., against the heirs to the estate.

Cowper, who was in business in Norfolk in 1897, had some vessels seized by the French government in that year, France and this country at that time were having their famous differences and exchanging warlike demonstrations and the French were capturing American shipping, and Cowper's was taken. A claim for the ships was filed afterwards and was recently paid, and as published in The Sun a few weeks ago, this suit is to decide to whom the money shall be paid. It amounts to about $7,500, and there are over forty claimants.

Death in Carlisle County.

NASHVILLE MEN Expect to Establish a Fertilizing Plant Here.

A fertilizer concern of Nashville will have a representative in the city in a few days to look over the city and confer with the Commercial club with reference to locating a branch of the establishment here. Secretary Coons was in Nashville last night and had a conference with them, and they said they had been considering locating a branch here for some time appreciating the location of Paducah for such an establishment, and the prospects were that they would decide to do so at once. The company is capitalized at $1,000,000 and makes its products from rock phosphate, and it therefore has not the offensive odors of most fertilizers.

TAX RATE MEASURE COMES UP AGAIN

It May Or May Not Be Amend- ed by Council Tonight.

No Cow Law at Present—Ordinance
Proposed to Protect the Streets.

VERY LITTLE OTHER BUSINESS.

The council will consider an ordinance requiring the execution of a bond for $500 by every contractor or individual, who for any purpose, wishes to make any excavation in the streets, and file it, with the plan of the work to be done with the city engineer, and receive a permit before allowed to proceed with the work. It has been the custom, heretofore, to have a check filed with the application for permits, and city treasurer has always on hand fifty or sixty checks of this nature, which in fact, are not guarantees that the work will be properly done, as the man may not have the money in bank at all.

When a contractor has asked for permits exceeding the guarantee the $500 bond will furnish, he will be required to execute an additional one.

The council will hold its regular meeting tonight, but there are few matters of importance to be brought up, so far as known.

The tax rate ordinance, fixing the rate at $1.60, will be presented for second passage, and it is not known whether it will be changed to $1.65 or not.

It is not likely that the cow ordinance will be brought up at this meeting, as the council voted down a motion to bring one in.

The board of health wants the ordinance empowering the city council to elect the sanitary inspectors changed, and this right vested with the board, claiming, as the inspectors are under their direction, they can get better and more efficient work done if they have the right to employ or discharge the men. The matter will be laid before the council tonight, but will probably not be changed as some of the council think they should retain control.

Attorney W. V. Eaton will go to Smithland Wednesday to take depositions in the case of the administrator of the estate of John Cowper of Norfolk, Va., against the heirs to the estate.

ARMENIANS NEED UNCLE SAM'S AID

President Roosevelt Asked to Intercede for Them.

More Trouble in Russia and Drastic Steps Are Being Taken By the Czar.

SOME LATE FOREIGN NEWS

Constantinople, March 19.—A number of Armenians of Alexandria and Cairo have telegraphed President Roosevelt, imploring him to take the initiative in having some diplomatic action taken looking to the improvement of the condition of Armenians in Turkey.

Some Couldn't, Others Wouldn't.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—The first elections for the national duma, just held, here, fell off deplorably, so far as participation by the workmen was concerned. Some of the workmen who decided to boycott the duma refrained from voting. Others who wished to vote were not able to do so, as their candidates were put under arrest.

Using Drastic Measures.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—The government is using the most repressive measures to stop the agitation for a strike. A meeting of railroad men at Rostoff-on-Don was today surrounded and invaded by Cossacks, who fired into the assemblage killing two and wounding eight.

Almost a Reign of Terror.

Suikem, Trans-Caucasia, March 19.—The manner in which General Alikhanoff has crushed the revolution in Kutsa by razing towns, executing ring leaders and driving sympathizers to the mountains, has produced such resentment that acts of terror and the throwing of bombs at troops are frequent. Alikhanoff is enforcing martial law with terrible rigor and all persons caught with arms are immediately shot.

6,000 Attended.

St. Petersburg, March 19.—Six thousand persons participated yesterday in an initial meeting of the league of education, inaugurated by the constitutional democrats to disseminate political instructions among the people. The police closed an assembly where one of the speakers demanded the abolition of the death penalty.

Attacked a Prison.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, March 19.—An armed crowd yesterday attacked the prison at Pawia street, killed a warden, mortally wounded two others and liberated a political prisoner.

Cuban Treasurer Missing.

Santiago de Cuba, March 19.—Blas Molinet, the provincial treasurer, has been missing for four days, and his whereabouts are unknown. A shortage in the treasury of $30,000 is alleged. Molinet is bonded by the Fidelity and Deposit company of Maryland, in the sum of $10,000.

Gen. Thayer Ill.

Lincoln, Neb., March 19.—Brigadier General John N. Thayer, former United States senator, is so ill his physician says he cannot recover.

800 May Have Been Lost.

London, March 19.—A report from Kagi, Island Formosa, says the earthquake destroyed houses and did other damage. Estimates of casualties vary from 100 to 800.

Went 100 Miles An Hour.

Keiff, Russia, March 19.—The trials here of a military train, armed with machine guns and quick fires, and intended for use in punitive expeditions, are said to have developed a speed of 100 miles an hour.

Dowie About Recovered.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 19.—Jno. Alexander Dowie, of Zion City, Ill., left Port Antonio for Mexico, by way of Cuba. He has almost recovered from his attack of paralysis.

18 Burned to Death.

Rome, March 19.—Eighteen people were burned to death in a remarkable fire at Fucecchio, Tuscany, last night. A dance was in progress in a hall above a stable in which the hay caught fire. Before all the dancers could escape the floor collapsed, and nearly a score fell into the fiery furnace below.

Russia Train Wrecked.

Warsaw, Poland, March 19.—Five persons were injured last night by the derailing of a train from Vienna to Nieklan. The accident was caused by wreckers, who broke the rails. Inspectors discovered a mine charged with 120 pounds of dynamite under the railway bridge near Gansk.

MINISTER RELIEVED

And Charles S. Francis Appointed to Austria.

Washington, March 19.—Charles S. Francis, of Troy, N. Y., former minister to Greece, will be nominated today to succeed Bellamy Storer, minister to Austria. Storer was summarily removed by the president by cable on the charge of neglecting the office. Francis is prominent in New York politics and editor of the Troy Times. His father was formerly in the diplomatic service, having served at Vienna.

ANGRY SENATORS MAY BE ON HAND

About Senator Campbell's Charge es of Crooked Work.

Claimed That One Little Incident
Started All the Talk of $100
Bills.

CENT AND HALF TAX PROBABLE

Representative L. P. Head, who has been at home for several days visiting his family, will return to Frankfort tonight, to attend the special session of the legislature called to take up the rectifiers' tax.

Representative Head says that the rectifiers' tax was opposed and defeated because some of the legislators were convinced that it was unjust.

He says that the charges of bribery and corruption implied against members of the senate are without foundation, according to general belief and that the "$100 bill" talk originated from a senator's jocosely showing some hundred dollar bills he had been carrying in his pocket since sometime before the legislature. He had eight or ten of them all the time and the incident is said to have been the sole origin of the bribery talk.

It is predicted that Senator Wheeler Campbell may have anything but a pleasant time when he gets back to Frankfort, because of his charges against some of the senators, as there are about twenty of them who opposed the tax, and if there was any crooked work, the guilty are among those twenty senators, who doubtless will be in anything but a good humor at the insinuation against them.

It is likely that the one and a half cent tax will eventually be adopted by the legislature.

Senator Wheeler Campbell will return to Frankfort tonight. He says the legislature will probably be in session for two weeks yet, that the administration is expecting a hard fight on the whiskey tax bill and as the opposition is putting up a hard fight, the session will continue, probably two weeks.

LOOKOUT, ROWDIES.

Constable Shelton Intends to Chase
You Out of "Canaan."

Constable A. G. Shelton, who made a record last summer in thinning out the rowdy characters in "Canaan," beyond Mechanicsburg, stated this morning that he intended going into the wholesale arrest business again shortly.

During the past several weeks, it seems, the rowdies have come to the front again and are taking advantage of every opportunity to create excitement and do some mischief. Every day or two some shooting is done, and on Sunday the report of firearms is not an uncommon sound. Yesterday several pistol or gun shots were heard and some little excitement was created and the constable intends to investigate and arrest the guilty persons.

"I have been busy down town of late," Constable Shelton stated this morning, "and have had little time to work on the south side, but I intend going back and getting a few of the rowdies. I shall make an example of one or two and think this will be sufficient to suppress a further outbreak."

SPURIOUS DOLLARS HAVE BEEN PASSED

Curtis Ingram, Former Motor- man, is Under Arrest.

Secret Service Agent Donella Here to Make a Complete Investigation of Counterfeiting.

INGRAM SAYS HE DIDN'T KNOW

Curtis Ingram, a former street car motorman, is facing a very serious charge, and unless he finds a certain negro to whom he alleges he sold his watch for four dollars, that proved to be counterfeit, he may have to stand trial in the federal court for knowingly passing counterfeit dollars.

Saturday afternoon Ingram was arrested at the instance of T. L. Herring, a Paducah Traction Co. conductor who claimed that the prisoner passed a spurious dollar on him Friday night. Ingram was positively identified by Herring and locked up pending an investigation. All he would say was that he did not know the money was bad.

This morning Detective Donella, of the government secret service, arrived from Louisville and is working on the case. Ingram was brought to the city hall this morning and taken into the mayor's office by Detectives Moore, Baker, Donella and Deputy U. S. Marshal Wade Brown. He was "sweated" but the officers could get nothing out of him except that he "did not know the money was bad."

"I sold my watch last week to a negro for $4 and the money I passed is the same given me by the negro," Ingram declared, and I did not know that it was counterfeit until arrested and told it was by the police. I do not know who the negro was I sold the watch to but will know him again if I ever see him. I had spent three of the dollars and had one left when arrested."

Jim Vlahopoulos, the Greek confectioner, states that some one passed such a dollar on him last week and that it was found in his drawer soon after Ingram had made a purchase.

In speaking of the spurious dollars, a government official stated this morning: "The money is a bad counterfeit and can be easily detected as such by a mere child on the slightest examination. The dollars are dated 1896 and are made of lead. They have no ring and from every appearance are made in a mould, probably a plaster of paris mould. They are not stamped in a die like most of the counterfeit coins are and the job is a very bad one and not a credit to even an amateur counterfeiter."

Ingram is nephew of well known milk dealer and when arrested had one of the counterfeit dollars, a pair of dice and a $50 bill, "stagn money." His uncle visited him this morning at the city hall and held a conference with his nephew and detectives, but the result of the conference was not made public to the press.

The young man has not been given a trial in police court yet, and it is probable the government will take the case off the police's hands provided more evidence can be secured against the defendant. If this is done he will be tried before U. S. Commissioner W. A. Gardner.

The only question to decide at present is whether Ingram is guilty of knowingly passing the spurious money. If he is, the government will prosecute him and if he is not, no prosecution would hold. The government men are seeking the gang which is supposed to put the money out. It is stated that this type of counterfeit money has been in circulation in Paducah for several weeks and Detective Donella will investigate fully before he returns.

The prisoner was remanded to the jail after the conference at the city hall, and will be kept there until trial unless he gives bond. His uncle is attempting to make bond for him this afternoon.

ONE KILLED

And Five Others Overcome by Kan-

Bispham's Recital.

David Bispham was one of the first American singers to realize the importance of careful and correct interpretation of the smaller masterpieces of the song-writers of Europe and to devote entire programs to the works of individual composers. It was nearly ten years ago that he gave his first recital in London, choosing the birthday of Robert Schumann upon which to present a complete afternoon of his ballads and dramatic lieder. Mr. Bispham will be at the Kentucky theatre Wednesday evening, under auspices of the Matinee Musical club of the city. It is his first appearance before a Paducah audience.

Eva Tanguay Pleased.

Eva Tanguay pleased a fairly large audience at the Kentucky theatre Saturday night. Miss Tanguay still uses "The Sambo Girl" as a vehicle for her peculiar talents, and there is little change in it. Even the members of the company are about the same. It is an unusually bright, mirth-inspiring production, however, and the people liked it. Miss Tanguay is almost the whole show, and wears some beautiful costumes. Her com-

Hot Shot From Theatre Proprietors.

If all theatrical managers were as independent as Pendley & Burch, who have quite a number of theatres, including one at Evansville and Owensboro, there would be fewer impositions on the general public. They booked Southern-Marlowe for Evansville, and wanted "Romeo and Juliet," but the manager of the company refused to put it on and insisted on "Taming of the Shrew." The managers of the theatre at Evansville then came back at the attraction in a card to the public, thus:

"Heretofore we have had no trouble in having the wishes of our patrons respected as to the choice of a play, and now to have our opinion and desires of our patrons set at naught simply to have the management of the company save the transportation of a few cars of scenery is going just a little beyond the pale of our patient endurance. The whole truth of the matter is that for economy one play has been selected for all the one night stands and these one night stand managers must take the one play selected, which is the easiest and least expensive to transport, whether they or their patrons like it or not. Had it been within our power to cancel the engagement it would have been done but as the matter now stands, we wish to be understood as being in open rebellion to such methods and we wish to assure our patrons that it is a matter of utter indifference to us whether this attraction receives any patronage or not, inasmuch as we or our people were not respected in the choice of the play. It would gratify us, in fact, if Evansville people would show just and proper resentment."

Richard Carle Here.

The Richard Carle Amusement Co.'s newest and latest farcical opera triumph "The Mayor of Tokio" will be presented at The Kentucky tonight by the original company headed by its celebrated author-actor, Richard Carle, who will be surrounded by all the many costly and beautiful scenic, electric and costume embellishments that have been the recipients of unstinted press and public praise in every principal city of the union, especially New York and

STRANGE FACTS.

It seems strange that sometimes your stomach or bowels won't digest your food, no matter what you eat.

It may be the state of your general health, but in any case, there is only one certain, safe and positive method of cure, and that is the proper use of that universal remedy for all forms of dyspeptic trouble or digestive weakness whether in stomach, liver, kidney or bowels—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Strange, it is, that in such little tablets, to be taken a few times a day, may lie such wondrous potential possibilities, that by their use the course of a man's whole life—yes, of the world—may be changed!

Yet, who would not appreciate the fact that if Napoleon had not been suffering from cancer of the stomach he would have won instead of lost—at Waterloo?

And Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets would have cured his Stomach Trouble had they then been invented, as they have cured thousands of others in the past ten years, who have suffered just as Napoleon did.

So you can readily appreciate that today, by curing all these people, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is helping to get the world's work done, by people who would do worse work if they must be having a great influence, in a quiet way, on the world's progress.

They may, therefore, be classed as one of the triumphs of science, amongst other discoveries, in medicine, mechanics, transportation, etc.

Let this, then, remain in your memory, a fact upon which to act when occasion requires:—

When any organ in your vast digestive machinery gets out of order, you have at your command one of the great inventions of the age, in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, to put your machinery in order again.

By so doing you will save much useless friction, add to the energy and working possibilities of your bodily machine, and relieve yourself from suffering, disease, weakness, premature old age and death.

All this is strictly in accordance with the most modern teachings of the best scientific schools of health, hygiene and medicine, and it will be to our advantage to lay these facts to heart.

Don't hesitate. Try Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets today.

Chicago, where its long runs, considered from both a financial and artistic standpoint, stamp this attraction one of the biggest things "Theatrical" of the season. The company arrived at noon on a special train from the south over the I. C. It is one of the largest that ever came to Paducah.

Minstrel May Go to Metropolis.

The talk of taking the Eagles' minstrels to Cairo has about ceased, but there is some disposition to take the show to Metropolis at an early date. The minstrel will be repeated in Paducah within two weeks, it is said, and will be given this time in its entirety. The first part setting will be rearranged and made a little longer. The olio will also be rearranged and some new features added. One of the features of the minstrel olio will probably be a violin solo by Joe Mangum (Blind Joe.)

"The Lyman Twin Comedians."

The Lyman Brothers who will appear here Thursday with their big company in the musical farce comedy "The Rustlers," have the remarkable distinction of being the only twin comedians today before the public.

These clever young players have made over one-half of the people of the United States forget the tolls of life and enjoy a good laugh although they are still in their twenties, and even now at that age they are rated with the best comedians of the day. Their new vehicle "The Rustlers" is an elaborate musical farce handsome ly staged and filled with bright, clean and refreshing comedy, intermingled with pretty music, made sprightly by a dainty chorus elegantly costumed together with a complicated and funny story portrayed by a cast of clever fun makers, The Summer Girls, Military Maids, and The Trolley Girls and some of the features which are to be seen.

The Loss Will Be About $3,000, Mostly to Stock, and Fully Covered By Insurance.

DAMAGE TO BUILDING LIGHT

The grocery of Fred Gallman & Son, 12th and Burnett streets, was visited by fire last night about 11:30 o'clock and the stock is a total loss but the building was damaged but slightly.

The fire broke out shortly after 11 o'clock and was discovered about 11:30. An alarm was sent in and companies Nos. 3 and 4 responded. The smoke and a gas in some way generated, had blown out the glass in the front end of the building when the fire companies arrived, but excellent work on the part of the firemen prevented any great damage to the building.

The fire was confined to the rear of the first floor, and seemed to have started under the stairway. The stock was ruined by the fire and water, but the building suffered little damage except from smoke and fallen plastering.

The building and stock was owned by Gallman and the loss is said to amount to about $3,000 fully covered by insurance. Mr. Gallman was unable to do any business this morning, but stated that he would fit out his building again, beginning at once, and would resume business at the old stand as soon as possible.

The origin of the conflagration is unknown. Mr. Gallman was at his store Sunday and until 8:30 o'clock Sunday night. He had a fire in the stove but the blaze which damaged his stock did not originate near the stove. Mr. Gallman states that there was very little fire in the stove when he left.

LATE BASEBALL NEWS

Some of the sporting writers in Kitty league cities ought to quit their "rag-chewing." They fuss like a lot of school boys. We don't know anything about the merits of the various teams. Nobody does. With fairly matched teams there is as much luck in baseball as in anything else. The object of baseball is to furnish the public with good, clean sport, and to make it at least pay for itself, if it does not afford a profit. The thing for the sporting writers to do is to help the promoters of the game make good in their precarious undertaking. We shall be ready to claim the earth for our team when we feel that it can be consistently done. At present there are no grounds for claiming anything for any team. All the advice we have to offer the fans at present is, to watch those new Illinois towns. They are going to put up a fast article of ball, if their past records are to be taken into account.

A telegram received states that Johnnie Duggan, the star twirler of the Vincennes club last season, had come to terms with the Nashville management, and had signed a contract to play with that team this coming season.

Cairo has under contract: Pitchers, Oscar Way, of last year's Fowler team; Clifford Lane, of Tennessee; Shurt and Trautman, of the Lebanon team; Guy Wooding, of Muncie; Charles Hatch, of Columbus, Ia. Jake Grinstead, of Danville, Ky. First base, W. Sellinger, of Angola, Ind. Second base, Angelo Marre, of Little Rock, Ark. Shortstop, Eddy Carter, of Rushville, and Ralph Behringer, of Frankfort, I. W. Somerlot, of Angola, and C. D. Conklin, of Indianapolis, and other infielders. Outfielders, VanSickle, of Aurora; Frank Taylor, of Osmond, and Ed Wagner of Indianapolis, and catchers Orvid Wolfe, of Union City and Tommy Searies, of Elkhart, complete the team.—Cairo Citizen.

Peoria has fourteen pitchers signed to date including Big Bill Asher and Dutch Wagner who are former Kitty players.

Ade Thoss, the catcher signed by Vincennes is an amateur who last year was with Osterholt's Covington Anchor team.

Of all the men who will compose the Paducah Kitty league team this season Dick Brahe is perhaps the least talked of, and yet it is said he will show up in as good form as possible for a player to be in.

Dick Brahe is one of the Indians' steadiest pitchers. He is a Paducah boy and has received all his training under the eyes of the Paducah managers. He is considered one of the steadiest twirlers in the league and his work will be greatly depended on this season. Several Southern

There was no rest either day or night despite the use of a vast quantity of medicine and more than one prescription. With very little expectation that I would get relief I tried Doan's Kidney Pills. One day's treatment convinced me that they were going to the spot and when I stopped their use the trouble disappeared."

BOWLING CONGRESS

MEETING AT LOUISVILLE WITH A GOOD CROWD.

No Sunday Bowling and Many Good Events Are to Take Place in the Near Future.

Louisville, Ky., March 19.—In the presence of 3,000 people, Acting Mayor Owen Tyler Saturday night sent the first ball bowled in the annual tournament of the American Bowling Congress, opening down the alley, and a roar of cheers greeted his efforts when he finished the performance with a neat "spare." A more auspicious opening never marked an annual tournament congress, the crowd gradually increasing as the evening wore on until all the available space in the huge Jefferson county armory was filled. The boxes were filled with prominent visitors and with the leaders in the social and business circles of Louisville.

The exercises preceding the opening of the play were brief and informal, Acting Mayor Tyler, on be-

"I'm Well"

Because of Liquezone," is a Tale Told Everywhere.

In almost every hamlet—every neighborhood—there are living examples of what Liquezone can do. Wherever you are, you need not go far to find some one who has been helped by it.

Talk to some of those cured ones; perhaps your own friends are among them. Ask if they advise you to try Liquezone. Or let us buy you a bottle, and learn its power for yourself. If you need help, please don't wait longer; don't stay sick. Let us show to you—as we have to millions—what Liquezone can do.

What Liquezone Is.

The virtues of Liquezone are derived solely from gases. The formula is sent to each user. The process of making requires large apparatus, and from 8 to 14 days' time. It is directed by chemists of the highest class. The object is to so fix and combine the gases as to carry into the system a powerful tonic-germicide.

Contact with Liquezone kills any form of disease germ, because germs are of vegetable origin. Yet to the body Liquezone is not only harmless, but helpful in the extreme. That is its main distinction. Common germicides are poison when taken internally. That is why medicine has been so helpless in a germ disease. Liquezone is exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying; yet no disease germ can exist in it.

We purchased the American rights to Liquezone after thousands of tests had been made with it. Its power had been proved, again and again, in the most difficult germ diseases. Then we offered to supply the first bottle free in every disease that required it. And over one million dollars have been spent to announce and fulfill this offer.

The result is that 11,000,000 bottles have been used, mostly in the past two years. Today there are countless cured ones, scattered everywhere, to tell what Liquezone has done.

But so many others need it that this offer is published still. In late years, science has traced scores of diseases to germ attacks. Old remedies do not apply to them. We wish to show those sick ones—at our cost—what Liquezone can do.

Where It Applies.

These are the diseases in which Liquezone has been most employed. In these it has earned its widest reputation. In all of these troubles we supply the first bottle free. And in all—no matter how difficult—we offer each user a two months' further test without the risk of a penny.

Also most forms of the following:
Kidney Troubles Liver Troubles
Stomach Troubles Women's Diseases
Fever, inflammation or catarrh—internal or external—usually indicates a germ attack. In nervous debility Liquezone acts as a vitalizer, accomplishing remarkable results.

50c. Bottle Free.

If you need Liquezone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on a local druggist for a full-size bottle, and will pay the druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to let the product itself show you what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it today, for it places you under no obligations whatever.

COMPLETING DEALNEW MANAGER OF PALMER WILL ARRIVE TOMORROW.

Architect W. L. Brainerd to Design Plans for Remodeling the Hotel.

Messrs. Joseph L. Friedman and James Utterback have gone to Chicago to wind up the Palmer house deal. Mr. Frank Murphy, who is to be manager of the Palmer will arrive tomorrow to take charge.

Articles of incorporation will be filed sometime this week, and the company will be "The Palmer Hotel Company" and Hon. Charles Reed will be president of it. The capital stock will be $150,000. It will probably be several weeks before the remodeling of the building will begin. Architect W. L. Brainerd, of Paducah, will be the architect in charge of the alterations.

The present efficient force at the Palmer will not be changed. It has one of the best in the state. Mr. Reed will be at the head of the company in an advisory capacity, but will retire from the active management. He is known from coast to coast and from Canada to the Gulf, and his cheerful face and genial manner will be missed by the traveling public.

VERY ENJOYABLE

Was Hoo Hoo Concatenation and Banquet Saturday Night.

The Hoo Hoo concatenation in Paducah Saturday night was a success in every particular. The degree work was conducted in Red Men's Hall beginning at 9:09 o'clock and the following were initiated: Terrell D. Fookes, Clem L. Acree, Sobree K. Hale, Joseph H. Faust, Omar Nichols, Paducah; Thomas H. Curd, Hardin, Ky.; Robert P. Bransford, Union City, Tenn.; Bartley Skinner, Kuttawa, Ky.; G. W. Gibbs, Ogden, Ky.; and David L. Morgan, Mayfield, Ky.

The following conducted the work: Snark, R. S. Robertson; Senior Hoo-Hoo Frank Morrell, of Metropolis, Ill.; Junior Hoo-Hoo, J. M. Clements; Assistant Junior Hoo-Hoo, T. A. Moore, of St. Louis; Bojum, C. H. Sherrill; Shrivemator, Geo. Deleccio, of Dyersburg; Jobberwock, P. C. Prosnitzer, of Nashville; Custodian, Joel Shoffner; Arcanoper, J. H. Meglenry, Louisville, Ky.; Gardon, Fred C. McKnight.

A banquet at the Palmer followed. Vice Gerent Snark Robertson presiding, and the following responded to toasts: Luke Russell, John Ferguson, H. S. Wells, Thomas A. Moore, Fred C. Lang, P. C. Prosnitzer, P. J. Langan, Bartley Skinner, Ed Woolfolk, John T. Donovan.

Today's Cairo Bulletin says of the Hoo Hoo concatenation here:

"Messrs. C. J. Miller and P. T. Langan returned yesterday from the great Hoo Hoo concatenation at Paducah and speak in high terms of praise of the affair, especially of the hospitality of the Paducahians in charge of the affair. There were ten candidates from different cities, but mostly from Paducah. They had a fine banquet at the Palmer House. Mr. Langan was on the list for a toast and it may be safely assumed that he acquitted himself creditably. It was a great event in every way say the Cairo visitors."

NASHVILLE MAN TO TRUST TO ALIBI

Dr. Feist Says He Can Prove His Every Movement.

His Friends Stick to Him—Grand Jury to Take Up Mangrum Murder Case.

AN INDICTMENT IS EXPECTED.

Nashville Tenn. March 19.—It is said that the defense of Dr. J. Herman Feist to the charge that he was connected with the disappearance of Mrs. Rosa Mangrum will be an alibi. His friends assert that his every movement on the night of Mrs. Mangrum's disappearance can be accounted for. Nothing new developed from the arrest, further proceedings going over until today, when the evidence against Dr. Feist will be presented to the grand jury.

The evidence in the hands of the prosecution is thought to be entirely circumstantial, but it is thought that in view of the seriousness of the charge, the grand jury will most likely return a true bill and let the charge be thoroughly sifted before judge and jury.

It was stated by friends of Dr. Feist that he has been expecting arrest for several weeks, and during that time his attorneys have secured evidence which, in their opinion, will acquit him of the charge. The prosecution has worked up proof which they consider strong.

The prosecution experienced some difficulty in agreeing upon who should sign the warrant for the arrest. Members of the family were in consultation for several days before this was finally fixed upon, and it is thought that the report of the physicians upon the result of the analysis of the dead woman's stomach precipitated it. The result of the analysis is not known.

Dr. Feist's friends deride the attempt to place the responsibility of the woman's death upon him. Many of them have called at his office to express their belief in his innocence.

It is said that the case of the defense will be based upon an alibi—that is the defense will prove the movements of Dr. Feist on the night of December 14 and subsequently so as to show that he could not possibly have had a hand in the disappearance of Mrs. Mangrum. In fact, it is known that Dr. Feist has at various times stated to friends that he could prove his every movement on the night of December 14.

Dr. Feist, it is said, has shown remarkable nerve throughout the ordeal he has passed in being arrested on the charge of murder and robbery. He has all along been composed and seemingly in the best of spirits. He has known for some time that he was suspected in the case, and in fact has admitted as much to friends. He has never entertained any idea of leaving Nashville, however, and is said to have even avoided making a pleasure trip he had contemplated, after he heard his name mentioned in connection with the case.

The prosecution will, it is said, use every effort to secure a conviction of the doctor. The relatives of the dead woman are all co-operating and will present a united battle front when the case is tried. They are positive in their belief that the right man has been arrested, and believe enough evidence is at hand to secure a conviction.

CHILDERS BACK.

Brought in From Louisville by Detective Baker.

Detective Will Baker went to Louisville yesterday and brought back Will Childers, colored, who escaped from the county jail where he was awaiting trial for house breaking.

Childers, it seems, escaped jail at Louisville five years ago. The Courier-Journal says of it:

"About five years ago Childers, with two other negroes, once made his escape from the old Jefferson county jail. He had been arrested on the charge of malicious cutting, and during his incarceration smallpox developed among a number of the prisoners. Those who had been exposed to the disease were together in the small tower room, which opens upon the jail roof. Childers was among this number, and fear of contracting the disease made him desperate. With almost superhuman strength he managed to pull off one of the iron bars that had been placed across the window. He and two other prisoners stepped from the tower room to the jail roof. From there they leaped a distance of five feet to the engine house roof and descended to the ground by means of a ladder. Childers sprained his ankle in making the leap, and was soon recaptured."

THE MEMBERSHIP IS NEARING A HUNDRED

Farmers' Institute to Hold Another Meeting Wednesday.

Much Interest Is Being Taken in the Move and Much Good Is Promised.

A BIG CROWD IS EXPECTED

The Farmers' Institute will meet Wednesday morning at the city hall to further consider the plan of organization and other matters to be acted on at once. The membership is now very near one hundred and it is hoped to greatly increase it—in fact to get every farmer in the county into the association.

The objects of the institute are the mutual benefits of the farmers and the gardeners of the county, and one of the principal objects is to interest the farmers in making this county a center of truck farming and fruit raising.

The crops to be raised will be allotted to the members of the association, what each shall raise, and the amount and a plan for selling it in car lots to the northern markets perfected. McCracken county already has a good reputation for its truck farm products and the trouble has been heretofore in getting enough raised to make it advantageous to market the products in car lots. The institute hopes to do this. It will instruct its members how to plant the various crops, what seeds to use, what acreage, and the other facts the farmers should know.

Every farmer in the county is invited to join the association. The cost is nothing, and the benefits promised to be great. This is the age of organization in everything and the farmers everywhere have found their organizations of great benefit. The cotton planters have their organization, the tobacco planters, the fruit growers of other localities, in fact everywhere the farmer is organizing, and it behooves the farmers of this county to get in the van. The farm is the greatest source of wealth in the country today, and movements of this sort will add to their value.

Mayfield's Jail Birds.

Mayfield, Ky., March 19.—There are at present 16 prisoners in the county jail. Three of them are under sentence as follows: Elmer Prewitt, seduction, two years; J. B. Holden, mule stealing, five years; Walter McClain, murder, eight years.

Laev Godfrey and Fon Brazier, two small boys, are to go to the state reform school. They are charged with larceny. The remainder of the prisoners are serving terms for the city, or awaiting their trials in the circuit court.

Hopkinsville's Commercial Club.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 19.—At a meeting of the Commercial club a resolution was adopted setting out the needs of Hopkinsville for a federal building, and calling on congress for an appropriation of $100,000. A petition signed by hundreds of Hopkinsville and Christian county citizens will be sent to Congressman A. O. Stanley and other Kentucky representatives in congress asking their aid in the matter. The Commercial club also adopted resolutions pledging its support to the Dark District Planters' Protective Association and expressing sympathy with its fight against the tobacco trust for better prices. The club agreed to furnish free of cost to the association a building in which to store its samples, and a committee was appointed to wait on the executive committee of the organization and extend them an invitation to make Hopkinsville the headquarters of the association.

Important Question to Decide.

Louisville, Ky., March 19.—It is up to Judge Walter Evans, of the United States district court, to decide whether or not the women's dressing rooms in the Pullman sleeping cars are large enough and properly fitted to accommodate the women patrons of the railroads. The case came before him on a demurrer in the suit of Bridget O'Zane, who is suing the Illinois Central railroad, and the Pullman Car company for damages to the amount of $50,000. She alleges that she fell in the dressing room of one of the Pullman cars as the train was rounding a curve, and broke her hip. David Baird, attorney for the defendants in the suit, contended that the accommodations of the women's dressing room were sufficient, while A. E. Wilson, for the less fairly treated than the men in plaintiff, asserted that the women are the way of dressing rooms. Judge Evans heard the argument and took the demurrer under submission.

Usual Story of Peach Crop Being Killed Bobs Up---Is Said to Be True This Time

The peach-crop-is-killed story is doing service again, but this time it happens to be true. Every year, along in the latter part of January the wisecracks begin to declare the crop ruined by cold weather, but sometimes they are wrong, almost invariably in this case. This year however, all the fruit growers say the early peach, which is the variety we have here, was frozen in February.

"We are looking for a big crop of other fruits aside from peaches," said a fruit grower today. "Strawberries should be plentiful, if we do not have too much rain in May, and the other fruits give evidence of big crops from present indications."

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP TESTED

New York has been giving the theory of municipal ownership a practical, though not an extensive test in the past few months, in the effort to secure revenue for the city and to improve the means of transportation for some of its citizens and suburbanites through municipal operation of the Staten Island Ferry, says the Louisville Times. The Detroit Free Press, in the following paragraph specifies results which are that:

"The Staten Island ferry line, taken over by the city some months ago, has been a financial drag almost from the outset, and so heavy have the losses become it has been decided commutation tickets are not profitable under public management of the ferryboats. Consequently their use will be limited only to workmen and school children, the expectation being that the increased revenue will be sufficient to make up the $15,000 which has been lost monthly since the city assumed control. The result is that commuters will hereafter pay eight cents for the privilege of enjoying municipal ownership, instead of the old rate of five cents. There appears to have been no diminution of patronage, but on the contrary the expense of operation has increased to a point that made the present move imperative. Judging by continued complaints the predicted betterment of service failed to materialize, the only relief being in the form of new boats, an advantage insufficient to compensate patrons for the increased fare they must now pay."

If there is any argument for municipal ownership that can overcome the objection that it places the political party in power in control of patronage, which makes it easily possible to perpetuate itself in office, it is that municipal ownership will give better service at cheaper prices. If New York's experience with the Staten Island Ferry can be taken as evidence, there is room for serious doubt whether even this argument has a substantial basis to stand on.

As for the application of municipal ownership methods to street railway systems in American cities, a satisfactory test may be made and it may not. Certainly Mayor Dunne's experience up to the present time does not lead to the expectation that he will, before his term of office expires, hit on a way which will either meet with popular approval or give to his theory a trial of which there is any reasonable prospect of success. Heretofore the necessity of making enough to pay dividends has caused urban transportation companies owned by private interests to furnish service as sometimes the response on the part of the companies has been slow, but, in the end, there have been few cities of any size in the United States that have not found themselves in a satisfactory position with regard to street railway transportation. It will be some time, before political theorists persuade more than a small minority of them to exchange what they have for what, in all likelihood they will not want when they get it.

A country contemporary places The Sun in the category of papers that have been supporting the state administration in corraling about everything worth having in the state. Bless you, it wasn't our funeral. We have from time to time commented on the trend of affairs in Kentucky, but it was a hopeless undertaking. The machine moved majestically on, and perhaps we have since, to some extent, remained off the right of way. It is very foolish to fight windmills. We notice that some of the Democratic papers have barked occasionally at the machine—but to their sorrow. About the only reason some of the Democratic papers have been making war on their own party, and the machine they helped create, was because they had been read out of the party, and couldn't get a finger in the pie. They don't really care anything about the people or the taxpayers, or they never would have advocated the election of the machine in the first place.

There is talk of fiscal court's complying with the recommendation of the Commercial club not to reduce the county tax rate this year. There is still more than merely keeping the tax rate the same to the club's request, however. The business men of Paducah would not make it without some object, and the object of wanting to keep the tax rate as it is, instead of curtailing it five cents, is to have five cents for more county gravel roads. Unless fiscal court makes provision to have this, there will be no advantage in making the tax rate the same as last year.

In nearly all the reliable, conservative newspapers of the country you will find opposition to municipal ownership, not because of municipal ownership itself, but because men of sound business understanding realize that American cities are not ready for municipal ownership, and will not be until politics is eliminated. A city government will have to be put on a strictly business basis before municipal ownership could be any advantage to the people—and the people are the ones to be served.

HOW YOU CAN HELP PADUCAH

Do not throw paper in the streets, or into other public places.

Do not make dumping grounds of vacant lots.

Do not allow rubbish to accumulate on your premises. Burn it.

Set your neighbor a good example by keeping up your lawns and your buildings, and call his attention to this movement.

Keep the sidewalks and street in front of your property free from stones and rubbish.

Do not allow the clerk or porter to sweep the filthy dust from your store or sidewalk into people's faces as they pass along the street.

If you have a cow, keep it at home.

If you know of a public nuisance, report it to the city hall. If it is not abated, report it to the newspaper offices, and let them publicly call attention to it.

Always think of others as well as yourself.

SUDDEN SUMMONS
FOR AGED WOMAN

Mrs. Catherine Thielman Dies From Attack of Heart Disease.

Was Born in Germany but Had Lived in This Country for Sixty-One Years.

OTHER RECENT DEATHS HERE.

Mrs. Catherine Thielman, aged 81, died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of Mr. Ed Hamann, at Fifth and Harrison, where she had been visiting Mrs. Hamann, her granddaughter for a few days. She had an attack of heart trouble Saturday at the machine—but to their sorrow. About the only reason some of the Democratic papers have been making war on their own party, and the machine they helped create, was because they had been read out of the party, and couldn't get a finger in the pie. They don't really care anything about the people or the taxpayers, or they never would have advocated the election of the machine in the first place.

She was born in Germany and came to America 61 years ago. She had resided in Paducah for many years, her home being at 1625 South Fourth street, and she was one of the best known women in this part of the state.

She leaves three children, Mr. John Thielman, Mrs. Sophie Baumgard and Mrs. William McCutchen, and a large number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She was mother of the late Mr. Fred Schroeder, one of Paducah's best known citizens during his lifetime.

Mrs. Thielman was an industrious, kind-hearted woman who had hundreds of friends, and was remarkably active for one of her years, up to the time of her death.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the German Evangelical church, burial at Oak Grove cemetery.

Judge E. W. Pratt's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Judge E. W. Pratt took place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the family residence on South Third street, services by the Rev. D. C. Wright, of Grace Episcopal church. Interment was at Oak Grove cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Jane Yarbro.

Mrs. Jane Yarbro, aged 61, died at her home on Ashcraft avenue from paralysis, leaving a husband, Henry Yarbro. The remains were yesterday taken to Marshall county and buried in Bethlehem cemetery.

Death of a Child.

Eunice Pierce, aged 11, the daughter of J. W. Pierce, of 1026 Jackson street, died this morning. The body will be buried tomorrow morning at Oak Grove.

JUDGE SANDERS OUT

WAS ABLE TO HOLD POLICE COURT THIS MORNING.

Quite a Docket But Most of the Cases Were Continued.

Police Judge D. L. Sanders has recovered sufficiently to get out after a brief illness of la grippe and held police court this morning. There were four cases continued from Saturday there being no court Saturday, and these with the arrests made Saturday night and Sunday, made the docket fairly large, but still a small docket for Monday morning.

There were several important cases to act on but they were continued on account of witnesses and at the request of attorneys. Among them were the cases against Roy McKinney and Exall & Co. for refusing to pay a commission brokers' license. These cases will test the validity of that portion of the license ordinance, and a great deal of interest is taken in the outcome. The cases will be tried the 22nd.

The case against George Farrell, white, a former stationman, for alleged malicious assault, was continued. He is alleged to have attacked Wm. Hamilton, white, in Mechanicsburg, and cut his face with "knucks" or some hard instrument. The fight occurred Saturday night and was a very fierce one judging from Hamilton's condition. He is not seriously hurt, however.

Wm. Thompson, colored, charged with maliciously shooting at Will Riley, colored, without wounding, was granted a continuance and also was Riley who is charged with a breach of the peace.

Other cases were: John Robinson, white, drunkenness, $1 and costs; William Horton, white breach of the peace, $3 and costs; Florence Greer, colored, drunk and disorderly, $20 and costs; James Bulger, white, breach of the peace, $10 and costs.

Paducah, 21.4—2 rise.

The gauge today registered 21.4 ft. a rise of .8 since Saturday. With the rains general up the river valleys a good deal more water is expected. The rainfall here was .8 yesterday and last night.

The wharf was a busy place this morning between 8 and 9 o'clock. The Dick Fowler, the Joe Fowler, the Peters Lee, and the City of Savannah were all receiving and discharging freight at the same time and the scene was one to make glad the heart of the old-time river man—the men who can remember when such scenes at the local wharf were the rule instead of an exception.

The Dick Fowler cleared for Cairo on time with a good trip today. The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packer.

The Butterfield, in from Nashville, left for Clarksville today.

The City of Savannah from St. Louis for the Tennessee river passed up at 8 this morning. She had a big trip and was towing a barge.

The Saitillo came out of the Tennessee today bound for St. Louis, with a good freight trip.

The Peters Lee was late in getting in this trip from Cincinnati. She had trouble getting labor, which delayed her. She got away, however, this morning, and had a fair trip.

The Martha Hemmon passed up the Tennessee river today for a tow.

The Inverness arrived from the Cumberland today. She will be inspected tomorrow by inspectors McDonald and Green of Nashville, and leave for the Tennessee river.

The towboat Henry Lowry was let off the Queen City ways at Cincinnati. When the vessel hit the water the hog chain broke again and the boat had to be pulled back for the same fault which landed her on the docks before.

Three tows of coal will be started South from Pittsburgh, the Raymond Horner, W. W. O'Neil and the Iron Age being assigned to take down sixty-five barges and four models.

Some people have a mistaken idea that the river business is falling off and that it will "run to seed" before many years; that the railroads are killing it. This is a mistake. The business is improving right along as trade increases. There are more boats running on the Ohio river and its tributaries today than have been running for years and more boats are being built. You may not have as many big, fine boats and long trades that you had before the days of railroading, but you have more boats in short trades than was ever known, and all of them busy. The Pittsburgh and Cincinnati boats have all the business they can handle, and traffic increasing all the time. There will never be a time when the boats will be a thing of the past, for so long as there will be business there will be boats, and railroads cannot hurt them. River rates of freight and transportation are cheaper than railroads and always will be. Steamboating is not waning, but on the other hand, is improving.—Courier-Journal.

A Washington dispatch says: Chairman Burton says there will be no river and harbor bill introduced during the session of congress and no special legislation of appropriations whatever pertaining to river and harbor improvements.

Wm. Robinson better known as Seattle, an old river man about 75 years of age, was found dead at Cairo in a cellar on Sixth street. Robinson went to Cairo during the war. For several years he had charge of a fleet of barges there. He was a hard working and honest Scotchman. His death was due to heart trouble. He has no relatives in this country.

Capt. Harry Burgess, United States engineer at Louisville, has advertised for bids for lumber to construct a government dredge boat to replace the "Louisville No. 2," which was destroyed by fire December 20. The boat is to cost $15,000 instead of $10,000, the valuation placed on the old dredge.

A PAY CHECK

IS WHAT CAUSED THE WRECK NEAR PUEBLO, COLO.

Operator Undertook Double Duty Without Permission of His Superiors.

Pueblo, Colo., March 19.—A pay check, and a small one at that, is said to have been the cause of the Adobe wreck in which thirty-six or more people met death.

The day before the wreck the pay car passed through Swallows and distributed checks for the February salaries. There is no bank in Swallows, and there was no way to cash the checks there. S. F. Lively, who had been working all day, needed the money, and it is said he volunteered to work for Night Operator Vandusen if the latter would go to Pueblo to get the money. The bargain was made and Lively started in on his night watch. Overcome by weariness, he dropped asleep and let the train go by without orders. Then, when another train appeared, he awoke and realized his mistake. It was too late.

He called up A. B. Witte, the dispatcher at Pueblo, and told of his mistake. Nothing could be done. The train was speeding through the darkness toward another train rushing in the opposite direction. There was no way of reaching either by telegraph before they should come together. Witte was helpless in the matter, but he was not idle. Before the wreck occurred he cleared the track from Pueblo, ordered the wrecking train and started it at full speed for the scene of inevitable collision. His aim was to save all the injured possible. But he did not figure on the flames which followed the crash.

Operator Disappears.

Denver, Col., March 19.—The police here are looking for Operator Lively, to whose negligence is attributed the disaster at Adobe. It is reported that in company with his brother, also an operator, Lively left Swallows for the East yesterday. He is wanted as a witness before the coroner's inquest.

REMAINS CREMATED.

No Services Held Over Herr Most's Remains.

Cincinnati, March 19.—Johann Most, the leading exponent of anarchy in America, was cremated this afternoon, according to his last request. No religious services were held at the house where he died or the crematory. His wife came from New York to attend the incineration.

HOLLAND CASE.

Married in Jackson, Tenn.

The Jackson Whig gives the following account of the wedding of Mr. Robert Sevier and Miss Gladys Spence who arrived a few days ago to visit Mrs. F. E. Lack the groom's sister.

"A wedding which came as a surprise to Jackson society was that of Miss Gladys Spence to Mr. Robert Sevier. The marriage was a very quiet one, only the immediate friends of the bride and groom being invited. The bride was gown in a beautiful gray tailored suit and carried white carnations. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Chas. E. Welch. Miss Heck presided at the piano. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Sevier left for Paducah, where they go to visit the groom's sister."

Charity Club Meeting.

The Charity club held a meeting at the Palmer house this morning and transacted routine business. It was decided that in the future it would confine its work to the city. Heretofore, it has been taking care of a number of cases outside the city limits, but as its means are becoming limited it has to limit the scope of its work.

Mayor Yeiser Ill Again.

Mayor Yeiser is ill and confined to his home today. He is suffering from an attack of rheumatism, and has had it for several weeks. He is attending to the duties of his office by phone, and is thus giving the telephone operators something to do. He probably will not be able to attend the council meeting tonight.

CHEAPER FARM LAND.

Southwest Offers Best Opportunities for Securing Homes.

Many farmers in the Northern and Eastern states are selling their high priced lands and locating in the southwest. Many who have been unable to own their homes in the older country are buying land in the new country.

Unusual opportunities exist along the lines of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain Route. The rich, alluvial, delta lands and river bottom lands of Southeast Missouri, Eastern Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas, capable of producing 60 bushels of corn a bale of cotton, 4 to 6 tons of alfalfa, 150 bushels of potatoes, and other grains, vegetables and hay crops, can be bought for $7.50 to $15.00 per acre. When cleared and slightly improved will rent for $4.00 to $6.00 per acre cash.

Uplands more rolling, lighter soil, adapted to fruit growing—peaches, pears, plums, grapes, berries—also melons, tomatoes and other vegetables, can be bought for $5.00 to $10.00 per acre in unimproved state. Many places with small clearings and some improvements can be bought very cheap.

This is a fine stock country. No long winter feeding. Free range, pure water mild climate. A healthy, growing country, with a great future.

PROPER SEWERS AND SANITATION

Interesting Address Delivered By Dr. D. G. Murrell.

The Imperfections Here in Facilities for Disposal of Filth and Waste.

SUGGESTIONS ON SANITATION.

One of the most interesting addresses at the Commercial club meeting last week was the one on Sewers and Sanitation by Dr. D. G. Murrell, who has given the matter probably, as much thought and study as any man in Paducah, and who is therefore, competent to speak on it with authority. His remarks were greeted with great applause by his hearers, having made an impression, and The Sun, appreciating the value of the article and the suggestions contained in it, presents it here in full.

Gentlemen, I have been requested to say something on Sanitation at this meeting, presumably for the benefit of this community.

Sanitation is defined as a science pertaining to, or designed to secure health. When we come to soberly consider this blessing it assumes proportions beyond all other needs, and well may this body, alert to the interests of this city call attention to this paramount question. I only regret my want of ability to bring before you this great subject with the force it deserves.

So far-reaching and multiple are the points raised by the laws of sanitation, that I can only hope to point out in a general way, the most salient sanitary needs of this city, as they present themselves to me.

I will first call attention to the imperfect facilities in Paducah for allowing of the cleaning of its filth and waste; this need has so far been overlooked or ignored, that a very small proportion of the blocks of the city possess alleys, and many of those that exist have their mouths closed by buildings in the interest of private greed, regardless of the public good; this could, and should be remedied by legislation and condemnation proceedings. The legislative forces should be further brought into play in determining the admission of an addition to the city. No sub-division should be allowed to be laid out adjoining the corporate limits whose plan of arrangement is not approved by the city engineer and the commissioners of public works, regarding the width and direction of its streets and alleys. I have only to call attention to the "crazy quilt" patterns of subdivisions around Paducah, to convince any thinking person of the urgent need of taking hold of this question before multiplied ownership practically obstructs all drainage and ways for future sanitation.

The only object sought by the owners of these plots now, is to separate for a long period some victim from a dollar a week for forty feet of ground on a thirty foot street; indifference or avarice blinding them to all future good of our growing city.

When the way has been cleared by opening an alley in every block in the city, and provision made for the same conditions to prevail in the surrounding territory, to become a corporate part of Paducah, I would suggest a sanitary corps be installed by the levy of a general tax for this purpose. Then this scavenger corps being inaugurated, its carts should weekly pass through the opened alleys and gather up the offal from proper receptacles, advantageously placed according to ordinance; this corps to be perpetual, and the advance guard of sewers. These latter to be built in the most thickly populated districts as fast as practical, supplemented always by the scavenger carts that will remove such wastes dirt and sludge as are not properly assigned to the conduits in the sewer district, thoroughly cleaning every part of the city.

I advocate a general tax for installing this corps for the reason, it makes every citizen a sanitary inspector. When the removal of ashes and sludge have been paid for by tax, their presence will not be tolerated as when the citizen has to pay the price of removal at the suggestion of a sanitary officer.

In the one instance there will be order and means and many to inspect against irregular methods, and few inspectors on the other hand, and possibly no funds available.

This would be the first great step to better health and a lower death rate. Under this arrangement all wells and vaults could be dispensed with in the sewer districts and should be. Wherever they exist they are a menace to the health of those near them. Therefore the sewer system should be pushed forward, as rapidly as the means of the city will permit, and when installed, there should be no delay by the authorities in compelling the citizens to utilize the one and dispense with the other.

To be judged by our death rate, we are living 50 years behind the times. For the death rate of London was 23 to the thousand over 50 years ago with its crowded population, a rate as low as Paducah can boast of in 1906. Think you, we need better sanitation?

A damp soil is recognized by all sanitary authorities as detrimental to health; the tendency to such conditions exist here over the whole corporate limits, favored by the pasty character of soil, a clay that holds water like a jug. And the unfortunate engineering scheme for the city, instituted by a former civil engineer in fixing the street grading above the surface, a rule strangely adhered to by all those who have followed him, all raising the streets above the general surface of the ground, making of each block a catch basin to the detriment of sanitation.

I take it there must have been some general idea for this, whereby the whole city would in time be elevated above high water from the Ohio. But it was, and is, a mistake, for there has been no available dirt to fill these low blocks, so today it is a fact that the pavements over town are higher than the surface of most of the yards; creating a condition unsanitary and detrimental to general health. This should be corrected in new districts, and altered when possible in the old in reconstructing.

The old unsanitary practice of building residences close to the ground, has gradually given way in the last twenty years to a greater elevation of buildings, and a consequent improvement in the health of this community.

A broad conception of the possibilities of Paducah has apparently never taken hold of its citizens and officials. Whatever has been done was with the seeming idea the town was about finished. Its churches are all in a stone's throw of each other, the congregations evidently thinking 9th street was the limit and end for all time.

Would you know what I would advocate today for a sewer system for Paducah? Not with the idea of its accomplishment this year or next, but holding fast to the idea, I would work to the end for the future. Cross Creek should be turned into Perkins Creek, I would take advantage of this as my main sewer line, running midway between the hills and the river, this would lead the sewerage off below the town instead, as now, above our water supply; albeit, the intake of our water main is far out across the current where passes this drainage. With this arrangement all risk is removed from contamination. Culverts and fills could take the place of bridges as permanent improvements below Cross Creek, and thus make Mechanicsburg and Paducah one.

The West End of town would have the advantage of this main sewer equally with the city from Seventh St. back, and ample facilities would be inaugurated to care for the larger Paducah that is to stretch from the Ohio to the Pines and from Clark's River to the mouth of Perkins Creek before another decade.

With a just pride can Paducah point to her climatic situation, her water supply in quality and quantity is unrivaled. The air is pure and there is no sanitary disadvantage that cannot be readily corrected, if, with an honest purpose the citizens and officials will earnestly apply their efforts to their betterment.

I am sure the people will second such action on the part of their representatives with a cheerful giving in taxes. So let us all join in the effort for better sanitation, more utilities and greater beauty for our city.

The opportunity is ripe now for one who will occupy himself with studies and efforts to give health and betterment of conditions for the sole principle of humanity, which would place his name among the grand men of the world.

STOP, WOMAN!

AND CONSIDER THE ALL-IMPORTANT FACT

That in addressing Mrs. Pinkham you are confiding your private life to a woman—a woman whose experience with women's diseases covers a great many years.

Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, and for many years, under her direction, and since her decease, she has been advising sick women free of charge.

Many women suffer in silence and drift along from bad to worse, knowing full well that they ought to have immediate assistance, but a natural modesty impels them to shrink from exposing themselves to the questions and probable examinations of even their family physician. It is unnecessary. Without money or price you can consult a woman whose knowledge from actual experience is great.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation.

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America, which has never been broken.

Out of the vast volume of experience which she has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She asks nothing in return except your good-will, and her advice has relieved thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

If you are ill, don't hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for special advice.

When a medicine has been successful in restoring to health so many women, you cannot well say, without trying it, "I do not believe it will help me."

of this state, and leave it a heritage to his children.

Let us all make an honest effort for a greater and grander Paducah, let us rise above sordid contemptible politics and work unitedly for the good of our home, this Chidreella of Kentucky towns. Then so surely as she found recognition in the story, when the fairy wand of civic pride and patriotism has touched her, will the Prince of Commerce find that the golden steps of prosperity just fits the foot of Fair Paducah, and she will yet lead the dance of progress before the ball is over, clean and radiant, with the glow of health borne of sanitation.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora Stephens, of Port Williams O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by W. B. McPherson, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

State Guard Inspection.

Frankfort, Ky., March 19.—The annual inspection of the Kentucky state guard will begin on April 9 next, and continue up to and including April 27. The inspection will be conducted by Capt. Melville S. Jarvis, Fourth United States Infantry, and Inspector General Noel Gaines, of the Kentucky guard.

"To Cure a Felon."

says Sam. Kendall, of Phillipsburg Kan., "Just cover it over with Bucklen's Arnica Salve and the Salve will do the rest." "Quickest cure for Burns, Boils, Sores, Scalds, Wounds, Piles, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Chapped Hands, Sore Feet and Sore Eyes. Only 25c at McPherson's drug store. Guaranteed.

21 Years for Killing His Wife.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 19.—Charles Burris, charged with murder in the killing of his wife at Pembroke, several months ago, was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and given the highest penalty, 21 years' in the penitentiary. Burris was in the army for six years and was honorably discharged in the Philippines. He was in the memorable charge up San Juan Hill and numerous other battles around Santiago, through all of which he passed without a scratch.

Well Worth Trying.

W. H. Brown, the popular pension attorney, of Pittsfield, Vt., says: "Next to a pension, the best thing to get is Dr. King's New Life Pills." He writes: "they keep my family in splendid health." Quick cure for Headache, Constipation and Biliousness 25c. Guaranteed at McPherson's drug store.

STILL SEARCHING.

But Every Clue Dr. Byers Receives Results in Disappointment.

Dr. L. S. Byers, of Seeleyville, is still searching for his lost child, Richmond Byers, says the Evansville Courier. He is still using the money sent to him by the people of Evansville and the surrounding territory in prosecuting the search.

Dr. Byers returned this week from Texas where he went in answer to letters and telegrams sent him from people in Jacksonboro, Elmo and Lexington. None of the boys was his son and he returned home tired and disappointed after the long journey. Dr. and Mrs. Byers receive several telegrams and letters each day from people who are interested in the search.

Editor Wolfe of The New Harmony Times, is still printing descriptions of the lost boy in his paper and sending them to other publishers all over the country. Mrs. Byers says they have received clues from Oklahoma, Alabama and several other distant states about their boy.

Starving to Death.

Because her stomach was so weakened by useless drugging that she could not eat, Mrs. Mary H. Walters, of St. Clair St., Columbus, O. was literally starving to death. She writes: "My stomach was so weak from useless drugs that I could not sleep; and not before I was given up to die was I induced to try Electric Bitters; with the wonderful result that improvement began at once, and a complete cure followed." Best health tonic on earth. 50c. Guaranteed by W. B. McPherson, druggist.

A TALE OF THE THIRD GENERATION

By HARRY LEON WILSON

Copyright, by Lothrop Publishing Company.

CHAPTER I. THE SECOND GENERATION IS REMOVED.

When Daniel J. Bines died of apoplexy in his private car at Kaslo Junction no one knew just where to reach either his old father or his young son with the news of his death. Somewhere up the eastern slope of the Sierras the old man would be leading, as he had long chosen to lead each summer, the lonely life of a prospector. The young man, two years out of Harvard, and but recently back from an extended European tour, was at some point on the North Atlantic coast, beginning the season's pursuit of happiness as he listed.

Only in a land so young that almost the present dwellers therein have made it might we find individualities which so decisively failed to blend. So little congruous was the family of Bines in root, branch and blossom, that it might, indeed, be taken to picture an epic of western life as the romancer would tell it. First of the line stands the figure of Peter Bines, the pioneer, contemporary with the stirring days of Fremont, of Kit Carson, of Harney and Bridger; the fearless strivers toward an ever-receding west, fascinating for its untried dangers as for its faded wealth—the sturdy, grave men who fought and toiled and hoped and realized in varying measure, but who led in sober truth a life such as the colors of no tale teller shall ever be high enough to reproduce.

Next came Daniel J. Bines, a type of the builder and organizer who followed the trail blazed by the earlier pioneer; the genius who, finding the magic realm opened, forthwith became its exploiter to its vast renown and his own large profit, coining its wealth of minerals, lumber, cattle and grain, and adventurously building the railroads that must always be had to drain a new land of savagery.

Nor would there be wanting a third—a figure of this present day, containing in potency at least, the stanch qualities of his two rugged forbears—the venturesome spirit that set his restless grandsons to roving westward, the power to group and coordinate, to "think three moves ahead" which had made his father a man of affairs; and, further, he had something modern of his own that neither of the others possessed, and yet which came as the just fruit of the parent vine: a disposition perhaps a bit less strenuous, turning back to the risen rather than forward to the setting sun; a tendency to rest a little from the toil and tumult; to cultivate some graces subtler than those of adventure and commercialism; to make the most of what had been done rather than strain to the doing of needless more; to live, in short, like a philosopher and a gentleman who has more golden dollars a year than either philosophers or gentlemen are wont to enjoy.

And now the central figure had gone suddenly at the age of 52, after the way of certain men who are quick, ardent and generous in their living. From his luxurious private car, lying on the side-track at the dreary little station, Toler, private secretary to the millionaire, had telegraphed to the headquarters of one important railway company the death of its president, and to various mining, milling and lumbering companies the death of their president, vice president or managing director, as the case might be. For the widow and only daughter word of the calamity had gone to a mountain resort not far from the family home at Montana City.

There promised to be delay in reaching the other two. The son would early read the news, Toler decided, unless perchance he were off at sea, since the death of a figure like Bines would be told by every daily newspaper in the country. He telegraphed, however, to the young man's New York apartments and to a Newport address, on the chance of finding him.

Locating old Peter Bines at this season of the year was a feat never lightly to be undertaken, nor for any trivial end. It being now the 10th of June, it could be known with certainty only that in one of four states he was prowling through some wooded canyon, toiling over a windy pass, or scaling a mountain sheerly, in his ancient and best loved sport of prospecting. Knowing his habits, the fastest guesser would not have attempted to say more definitely where the old man might be. The most promising plan Toler could devise was to wire the superintendent of the "One Girl" mine at Skiplap. The elder Bines, he knew, had passed through Skiplap about June 1, and had let it, perhaps, some inkling of his proposed route; if it chanced, indeed, that he had taken the trouble to propose one.

Pangburn, the mine superintendent, on receipt of the news, dispatched five men on the search in as many different directions. The old man was now 74, and Pangburn had noted when last they met that he appeared to be somewhat less agile and vigorous than he had been 20 years before; from which it was fair to reason that he might be playing his solitary game at a leisurely pace, and would have tramped no great distance in the ten days he had been gone. The searches, therefore, were directed to beat up the near-by country. To Billy Brue was allotted the easiest as being the most probable route. He was to follow up Paddle creek to Four Forks, thence over the Bitter Root trail to Eden, on to Oro Fino, and up over Little Pass to Hell-and-gone. He was to proceed slowly, to be alert for signs along the way, and to make inquiries of all he met. "You're likely to get track of Uncle Peter," said Pangburn, "over along the west side of Horseback Ridge, just beyond Eden. When he pulled out he'd picked up over that way last summer. You'd ought to make that by to-morrow, seeing you've got a good horse and the trail's been mended this spring. Now you spread yourself out, Billy, and when you get on to the Ridge make a special look all around there."

Besides these directions and the telegram from Toler, Billy Brue took with him a copy of the Skiplap Weekly Ledger, damp from the press and containing the death notice of Daniel J. Bines, a notice sent out by the News Association, which Billy Brue read with interest as he started up the trail. The item concluded thus:

"The young and beautiful Mrs. Bines, who had been accompanying her husband on his trip of inspection over the Sierra Northern, is prostrated with grief at the shock of his sudden death."

Billy Brue mastered this piece of intelligence after six readings, but he refrained from comment, beyond thanking God, in thought, that he could mind his own business under excessive provocation to do otherwise. He considered it no meddling, however, to remember that Mrs. Daniel J. Bines, widow of his late employer, could appear neither young nor beautiful to the most sanguine of newsmongers; nor to remember that he happened to know she had not accompanied her husband on his last trip of inspection over the Kaslo division of the Sierra Northern railway.

CHAPTER II. BILLY BRUE FINDS HIS MAN.

Each spring old Peter Bines grew restive and raw like an unbroken colt. And when the distant mountain peaks began to swim in the summer haze, and the little rushing rivers sang to him, pleading that he come once more to follow them up, he became uncontrollable. Every year at this time he alleged, with a show of irritation, that his health was being sapped by the pernicious indulgence of sleeping on a bed inside a house. He alleged, further, that stocks and bonds were but shadows of wealth, that the old mines might any day become exhausted, and that security for the future lay only in having one member of the family, at least, looking up new pay rock against the ever possible time of adversity.

And so he loitered through the mountains, resting here, climbing there, making always a shrewd, close reading of the rocks.

It was thus Billy Brue found him at the end of his second day's search. A little off the trail, at the entrance to a pocket of the canyon, he towered erect to peer down when he heard the noise of the messenger's ascent.

Billy Brue, riding up the trail, halted, nodded, and was silent. The old man returned his salutation as briefly. These things by men who stay much alone come to be managed with verbal economy. They would talk presently, but greetings were awkward.

Billy Brue took one foot from its stirrup and turned in his saddle, pulling the leg up to a restful position. Then he spat, musingly, and looked back down the canyon aimlessly, throwing his eyes from side to side where the gray granite ledges showed through the tall spruce and pine trees. But the old man knew he had been sent for.

"Well, Billy Brue, what's doin'?" Billy Brue squirmed in the saddle, spat again, as with sudden resolve, and said:

"Why—uh—Dan'l J.—he's dead."

The old man repeated the words, dazedly.

"Dan'l J.—he's dead;—why, who else is dead, too?"

Billy Brue's emphasis, cunningly contrived by him to avoid giving prominence to the word "dead," had suggested this inquiry in the first moment of stupefaction.

"Nobody else dead—jest Dan'l J.—he's dead."

"Jest Dan'l J.—my boy—my boy Dan'l dead!"

His mighty shape was stricken with a curious rigidity, erected there as if it were a part of the mountain, flung up of old from the earth's inner tragedy, confounded, desolate, ancient.

Billy Brue turned from the stony interrogation of his eyes and took a few steps away, waiting. A little wind sprang up among the higher trees, the moments passed, and still the great figure stood transfixed in its curious silence. The leathers creaked as the horse turned. The messenger, with an air of surveying the canyon, stole an anxious glance at the old face. The sorrowful old eyes were fixed on things that were not; they looked vaguely as if in search.

"Dan'l!" he said.

It was not a cry; there was nothing plaintive in it. It was only the old man calling his son; David calling upon Abasalom. Then there was a change. He came sternly forward.

"Who killed my boy?"

"Nobody, Uncle Peter;—was a stroke. He was goin' over the line, and they'd laid out at Kaslo for a day so's Dan'l J. could see about and spur the 'Lucky' 'Cus' people wanted—and maybe it was the climbin' brought it on."

The old man looked his years. As he came nearer Billy Brue saw tears tremble in his eyes and roll unnoted down his cheeks. Yet his voice was unbroken and he was, indeed, unconscious of the tears.

"I was afraid of that. He lived too high. He et too much and he drank too much and was too soft—was Dan'l—too soft—"

The old voice trembled a bit and he stopped to look aside into the little pocket he had been exploring. Billy Brue looked back down the canyon, where the swift stream brawled itself into white foam far below.

"He wouldn't use his legs; I prodded him about it constant—"

He stopped again to brace himself against the shock. Billy Brue still looked away.

"I told him high altitudes and high livin' would do any man—"

Again he was silent.

"But all he'd ever say was that times had changed since my day, and I wasn't to mind him."

He had himself better in hand now. "Why, I nursed that boy when he was a dear, funny little red baby with big round eyes rollin' around to take notice; he took notice awful quick—fur a baby. Oh, my! Oh, dear! Dan'l!"

Again he stopped.

"And it don't seem more'n yesterday that I was a-teachin' him to throw the diamond hitch; he could throw the diamond hitch with his eyes shut—I reckon by the time he was nine or ten. He had his faults, but they didn't hurt him none; Dan'l J. was a man, now—"

"The dead millionaire," began Billy Brue, reading from the obituary in the Skiplap Weekly Ledger, "was in his fifty-second year. Genial, generous to a fault, quick to resent a wrong, but unflinching in his loyalty to a friend, a man of large ideas, with a genius for large operations, he was the type of indefatigable enterprise that has built this western empire in a wilderness and given rich sustenance and luxurious homes to millions of prosperous, happy American citizens. Eminent Doctors Praise Its Ingredients.

We refer to that boon to weak, nervous, suffering women known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Dr. John Fyfe, one of the Editorial Staff of THE ECLECTIC MEDICAL REVIEW says of Unicorn root (Helonias Dioica) which is one of the chief ingredients of the "Favorite Prescription": "A remedy which invariably acts as a uterine invigorator... makes for normal activity of the entire reproductive system." He continues: "In Helonias we have a medicinal which more fully answers the above purpose than any other drug with which I am acquainted. In the treatment of diseases peculiar to women it is seldom that a case is seen which does not present some indication for this remedial agent." Dr. Fyfe further says: "The following are among the leading indications for Helonias (Unicorn root): Pain or aching in the back, with leucorrhoea; atonic twinges of the reproductive organs of women; mental depression and irritability, associated with chronic diseases of the reproductive organs of women; constant sensation of heat in the region of the kidneys; menorrhagia (flooding), due to a weakened condition of the reproductive system; amenorrhoea (suppressed or absent monthly periods), arising from or accompanying an abnormal condition of the digestive organs and anemic (thin blood) habit; dragging sensations in the extreme lower part of the abdomen."

If more or less of the above symptoms are present, no invalid woman can do better than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, one of the leading ingredients of which is Unicorn root, or Helonias, and the medicinal properties of which it has carefully retained.

Of Golden Seal root, another prominent ingredient of "Favorite Prescription," Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Medical College, Chicago, says: "It is an important remedy in disorders of the womb. In all catarrhal conditions, and general enfeeblement, it is useful."

Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati, says of Golden Seal root: "In relation to its general effects on the system, there is no medicine in use about which there is such general unanimity of opinion. It is universally regarded as the tonic useful in all debilitated conditions."

Bartholow, M. D., of Jefferson Medical College, says of Golden Seal: "Valuable in uterine hemorrhage, menorrhagia (flooding) and congestive dysmenorrhoea (painful menstruation)."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription faithfully represents all the above named ingredients and cures the diseases for which they are recommended.

woolen shirt sleeves, wiped his wet cheeks. The slow, painful blush of age crept up across the iron strength of his face, and passed. He looked away as he spoke.

"I knew it; I knew that. My Dan'l was like all that 'Frisco bunch. They get tangled with women sooner or later. I taxed Dan'l with it. I splenied against it and let him know it. But he was a man and his own master. If you can rightly call a man his own master that does them things. Do you know what fur woman this one was, Billy?"

"Well, last time Dan'l J. was up to Skiplap, there was a swell party on the car—kind of a coppery-lookin' blonde, Allie Ash, the brakeman on No. 4, he tells me she used to be in Spokane, and now she'd got her hooks on to some minin' property up in the Coeur d'Alene. Course, this mightn't be the one."

The old man had ceased to listen. He was aroused to the need of action. "Get movin', Billy! We can get down to Eden to-night; we'll have the moon fur two hours on the trail soon's the sun's gone. I can get 'em to drive me over to Skiplap first thing to-morrow, and I can have 'em make me up a train there fur Montana City. Was he—"

"Dan'l J. has been took home—the newspaper says."

They turned back down the trail, the old man astride Billy Brue's horse, followed by his pack mule and preceded by Billy.

Already, such was his buoyancy and habit of quick recovery and readjustment under reverses, his thoughts were turning to his grandson. Daniel's boy—there was the grandson of his grandfather—the son of his father—fresh from college, and the instructions of European travel, knowing many things his father had not known, ready to take up the work of his father, and capable, perhaps, of giving it a better finish. His beloved west had lost one of its valued builders, but another should take his place. His boy should come to him and finish the tasks of his father; and, in the years to come, make other mighty tasks of empire building for himself and the children of his children.

GROUND HOG VINDICATED

And It Is Generally Hoped He Will Now Let Us Have Good Weather.

Six weeks ago the ground hog made his prophesy—that there would be forty-two days more of winter. The little prognosticator was abused and slandered and vilified, but he stands vindicated before the world. There has been bad weather the greater portion of the six weeks, a good deal of it very bad.

But now that the six weeks has expired and the ground hog has proven himself a true prophet, it is to be hoped that the winter is at an end.

All Pure Beer Is Not Good Beer

Some Large Brewers Claim Purity and Sterilization and little else.
We Guarantee Purity, Sterilization and Excellence of Materials.
Superiority of Quality is the Test.

MOST beer, no matter by whom brewed, is clean, pure and sterilized.
These primary conditions prevail in nearly all breweries. Many pure, clean beers, however, are not good beers.

Clean, pure beer may be made from almost any cereal—and may be aged and sterilized, but it will not necessarily be good beer.
CORN OR OTHER CHEAP MATERIALS WILL NOT MAKE GOOD BEER.

The maximum of Quality is not there.
The brewers of Corn-made beer can and do justly claim purity, cleanliness and freedom from germs.
BUT THEY CANNOT JUSTLY CLAIM QUALITY.

Science and experience have proved that good beer MUST contain two essential ingredients—HOPS and BARLEY, and for pale beer a small percentage of rice.
But it is much cheaper to use Corn-Grits as a substitute for Barley-Malt.

This is why some of the large brewers use Corn—it costs less.
We use those materials which are recognized in the science of brewing as the essential elements for a really healthful, palatable, honest and superior beer; and of these only the very best, regardless of cost.
Not a grain of corn ever enters our brewery in any manner or for any purpose.

Our precautions for pure, clean and perfectly sterilized beer are unequalled.

Our storing capacity of 600,000 barrels, exceeding that of any two other breweries in the world, enables us to lager (age) our beer from four to five months.

For these reasons

Budweiser

The King of All Beers

must and does command a higher price than any other beer, and has a greater sale than all other bottled beers.

SHOT THROUGH COAT

J. W. BEAN SHOTS LAWRENCE DUNLEY, A PLASTERER.

The Wound Is Not Regarded as Serious—Bean Gives Bond and Is Released.

Lawrence Dunley, a plasterer of 1031 Burnett street, was shot and painfully but not seriously injured late Saturday afternoon in the Dick-ey saloon, 118 South Third street, by J. W. Bean, of 732 South Sixth street, a well-known contractor, who immediately reported at police headquarters and was released on bond.

According to disinterested persons, where Bean was talking business, and began to abuse him. The men, it seems, had not been on good terms because of some disagreement about work, and Bean attempted to avoid trouble, but Dunley is alleged to have kept advancing and Bean finally shot through his overcoat pocket without drawing his pistol.

The ball struck Dunley in the left breast and glanced, inflicting only a flesh wound. The injured man's clothing was ignited by the shot, but he was able to walk to Dr. J. W. Ponder's office, where his wound was dressed.

Dunley is a young man and Bean is 56 years old, and the former had been persuaded to leave the saloon by friends to prevent trouble. It is said that he returned the second time to renew the trouble when he was shot.

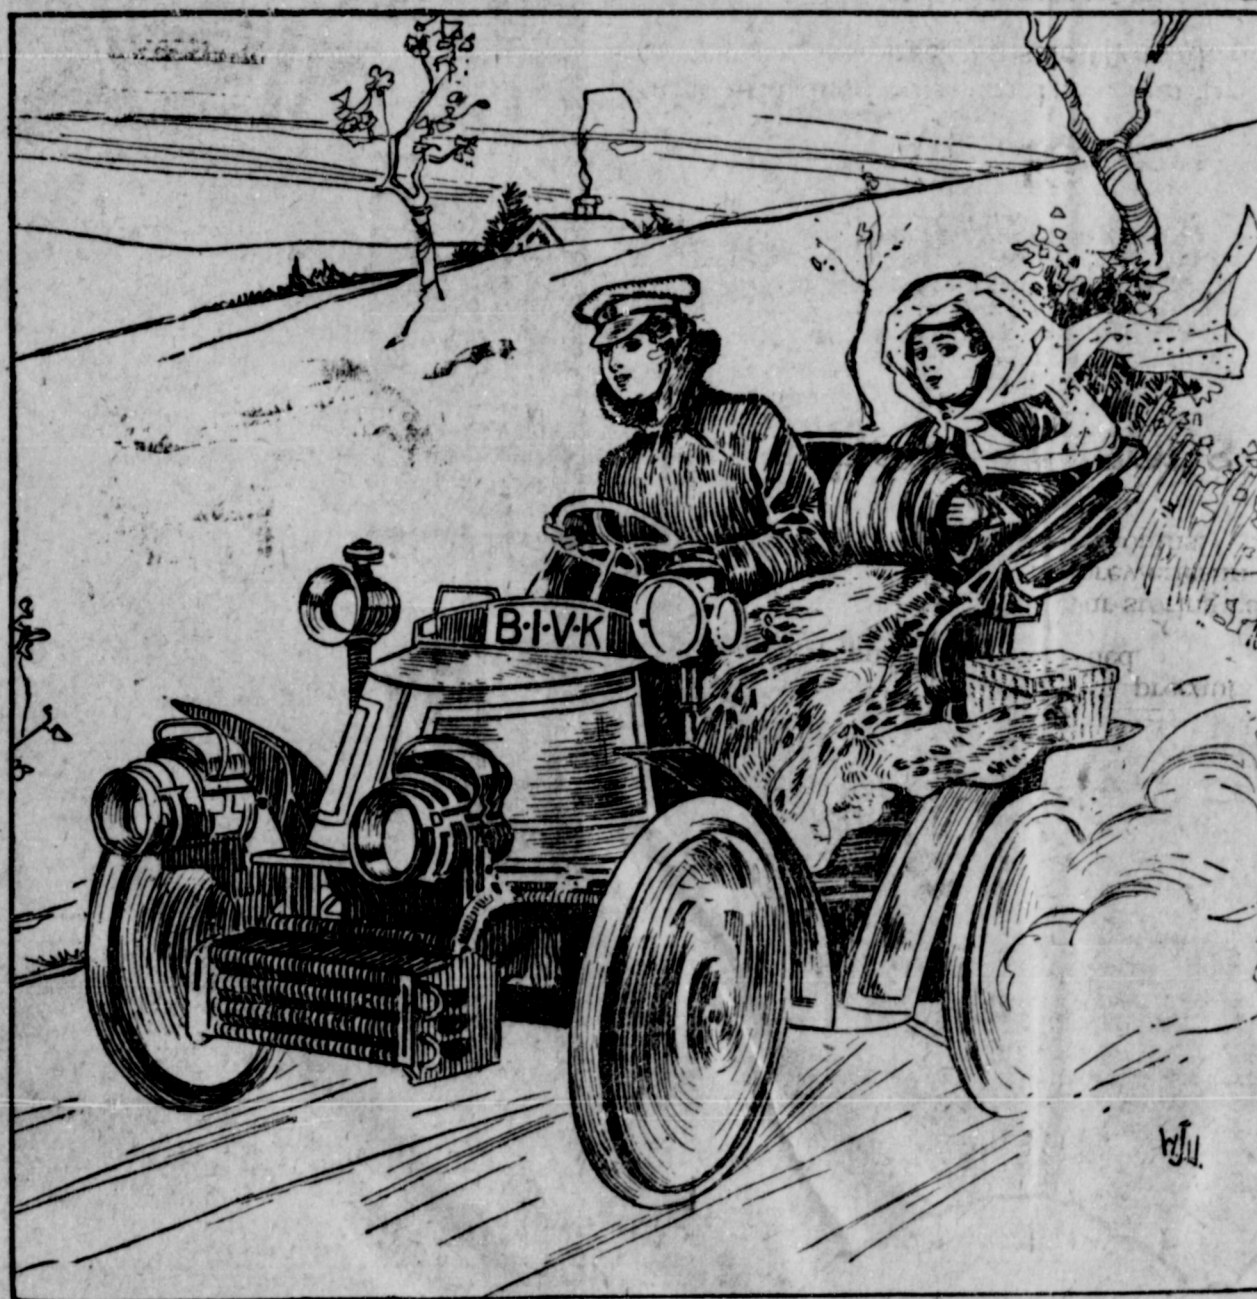

Police Judge Sanders continued the case over until tomorrow morning on account of the absence of witnesses.

REVIVAL CLOSED AT BAPTIST CHURCH

There Have Been Over 1,000 Additions to Congregation.

Rev. Cates to Rest and Then Go to Mayfield to Hold a Meeting in That City.

NEWS OF OTHER CHURCHES.

The First Baptist revival was brought to a close last night, after having lasted continuously since November 19th. The Revs. George Cates and Gordon Hill of Louisville, conducted the meetings, two a day, all of which were well attended, the church being unable to hold the congregations the greater part of the time. Rev. J. S. Cheek, pastor of the church, assisted in the services until his health gave way and he was forced to take a rest.

It is claimed that the meeting was the most remarkable denominational meeting in the history of the state, if not in the country. There were over 1,000 additions to the church. The exact number will not be known for several days. About 400 of the converts have been baptized. Many converts joined other churches, hence the exact number of conversions will never be known.

Rev. Cates will probably go to his home in Louisville to take a rest before resuming his evangelistic work, and it is understood will then go to Mayfield, where he held a meeting some time ago, to hold another.

Rev. Hill will remain in Paducah in charge of the Baptist church until Rev. Cheek, the pastor, is able to return to his duties. Rev. Cheek is now at Waco, Tex., and it is understood by officers of the church is improving, and expects to return in about two weeks.

The last service last night was perhaps the best attended of the series, even the aisles being packed with people. Scores were turned away, not being able to even get inside the building.

Rev. T. J. Newell preached two strong sermons yesterday at the Broadway Methodist church, in preparation for the three weeks' revival services that begin at the church on next Sunday.

Dr. Newell will be assisted by Rev. J. B. Culpepper, of Iuka, Miss., who is an evangelist of the M. E. Church, South, and has quite a reputation as an eloquent and forcible preacher. Mr. Culpepper held a meeting in Paducah a number of years ago, and did excellent work here. While the meeting will be under the auspices of the Broadway Methodist church, it will not be in any way sectarian, and Dr. Newell invites the co-operation and interest of all churches and people in the good work. The plan for the services will not be definitely arranged until Mr. Culpepper arrives. He has been holding a series of meetings in Illinois, previous to coming here.

Excellent services were held yesterday at the Mechanicsburg M. E. church where a revival is in progress. The pastor, Rev. J. W. Cantrill, is being assisted by Miss Lucy Lee Mahan of London, Ky., an evangelist of some note in the state. Miss Mahan preached two very fine sermons yesterday to large and interested crowds. There have been a number of conversions since the meeting started, and there were several additions to the church last night. The meeting will continue through the week with services every afternoon and night.

Rev. David C. Wright, rector of Grace Episcopal church, preached the third of his series of sermons on Joseph as a world-type, yesterday morning. The subject was "Joseph the Dreamer," and many beautiful thoughts and impressive lessons were deduced from Joseph's life in Egypt.

These sermons are attracting much notice, and are both scholarly and practical, wide-reaching in their effect, and are evidences of Mr. Wright's power as a man and a preacher.

Rev. P. H. Fields, of the Third street Methodist church, who had expected to start a protracted meeting at his church at the close of the First Baptist church revival, will not begin for several weeks yet. Owing to the bad weather and the much sickness at present as a result of it, he thinks it best to wait awhile, and will probably begin after the Broadway Methodist meeting closes.

Rev. J. W. Blackard, D. D., presiding elder of the Paducah district, held his second quarterly meeting at this church last evening.

Much interest is attending the revivals now in progress at the East Baptist church, and at the Union Gospel Mission. Large crowds attend the services, and there are professions at every service.

Rev. E. H. Cunningham, of the Second Baptist church, will begin a protracted meeting at his church in the near future. It was expected to start one at once but the preacher to assist Mr. Cunningham was unable to come.

Interesting services will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Epworth League parlor of the Broadway Methodist church, by the Senior Epworth League. The public is cordially invited.
